

DIRECTOR OF WORSHIP

Brookdale Presbyterian Church (203 S. 31st Street) is a growing gospel-centered church in St. Joseph, Missouri, with a communicant membership of approximately three hundred. With more than one hundred years of history, the church has a strong reputation in both the city and its surrounding neighborhood. It has been known as a church that is theologically sound, well grounded in Scripture, and active in ministry. The congregation is inter-generational and socioeconomically diverse. Brookdale is a member of the Evangelical Presbyterian Church (EPC).

Recently the church finished a vision development process, prayerfully determining that God is calling the congregation to “bring the beauty of the gospel to the brokenness of life.” A summary statement is available on our website, describing how we see the vision being expressed in our prayer, worship, spiritual formation, and mission (a full statement is available upon request). In looking to the future, the congregation is prayerfully searching for a part-time director of worship who can help lead the congregation to live out this gospel-centered vision through its worshipping life.

The qualified candidate will be someone who has a passion for God’s glory, musical and/or vocal talent, the ability to lead and develop others, a desire to craft worship (in structure and content) according to the rhythm and beauty of the gospel, and a familiarity with both traditional and contemporary worship.

We invite you to learn more about our church and our vision by visiting us at www.brookdalechurch.com
