The General Synod

ASSOCIATE REFORMED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Dear Fathers and Brothers:

It is possible, if not likely, that the majority of your congregation is unaware and under-prepared.

They're unaware of their financial power and potential, both now and when they die, and they're under-prepared for the inevitable rearrangement of that power and potential when they do die – and that applies to young families and individuals as well as older.

As a leader, you can and should do something about that. And it might even start with you learning about your own power and potential that flows from a well-crafted and executed PLAN (see Step 1 below).

It is right to partner with legal, tax, and financial experts to implement good plans. It is wrong (and unnecessary) to ignore or put off good (free) PLANNING because of imagined, unknown/unavoidable future expense. Believe me, “unplanned” = futur expense, both tax and legal!

The planning can indeed be free, and that's where your leadership comes in:

Step 1: Take personal advantage of the FREE “Estate Design” service offered through Board of Stewardship and World Witness. It's like having free access to an architect that's been doing custom designs for over fifty years.

Step 2: Host a “House in Order” seminar so that your congregation can take advantage of this important design service. It might not surprise you to know that beyond immediate family, the local congregation is most often the first current and future beneficiary of a carefully planned estate.

You can start with Step 2, but your congregation is likely to benefit more if you begin with Step 1.

Either way, here's how to take step 1 or 2. Send your name and a quick text or email to our facilitator, Ken Lotze, (704) 321-5527 or KenL@WorldWitness.org. He'll facilitate your interaction with Lifestyle Giving, the group that's been helping individuals design and plan for over fifty years.
